

On Women's Day, a famous American feminist visited your school. Your English teacher has asked you to express your opinion on today's situation of women in an essay:

"Although the position of women in society today has improved, there is still a great deal of discrimination. Do you agree?"

In your essay you should:

- evaluate which disadvantages working women face
- judge if a woman's position in society has improved over the years
- analyse whether discrimination is still a problem today.

Write an essay of about 300 words and give it a title.

Room for corrections

