

The magazine Youth of the World has recently published an article on cyberbullying and received countless comments from readers. Many have insisted that people who bully others online should be banned from social media sites. The magazine has invited readers to send in essays in which they give their personal view of cyberbullying.

The best five essays will be published in the next edition of the magazine.

Cyberbullying

In your essay you should

- write about your own experience of using social media sites.
- give reasons why cyberbullies should or shouldn't be banned from such sites.
- recommend other forms of punishment
- suggest ways of dealing with the problem.

Write about 400 words and give your essay a title!
